Yeah. I was wrong.

She's awesome, and my molecules will never be the same.

If we told them the show was pretty much just like that in spots, they'd never believe us.

Except the guy with no skin wasn't there.

I might even let you borrow it sometimes. That is, if I were to happen to have one.

Oh, she's not so bad. That space alien in the cape has turned her head, is all.

When I decided to be born in February, I must not have realized I'd own a motorcycle. Winter storms play hell with...

"g" And a few others had me wondering, "Are you supposed to be out on a school night?"

Which is one of the awesome things about early shows. Seeing kids escaping the education camps and checkin' out the size of the real world.

We weren't supposed to be out on a school night either. But shhhh.

Depends on which spots. I'd buy the football hooligans crashing the party, and the orgy in the audience, and even the catfight between the chorus girls.

But the brass section marching through the food fight? C'mon. WTF, over?

Also, molecular restructuring is an important maintenance procedure for humans. I think it's required every ten thousand miles or so. Speeds up cell replacement.

Hey.

I don't think I said this the other night.

But thanks for being the best Platypus a girl could have.

If you need more, she's also the lead singer for the dresden dolls, which gives you three more available cds of pure awesome.

Not that I have a giant fan-crush on her or anything.

Ah, but the Dresden Dolls aren't on eMusic.com, either. If you can point me to a DRM-free source, I'll definitely check it out. (So, not iTunes, or Amazon.com.)

Thanks!
